ABOUT ME

Hey there!

I'm Loc Hughes, a recent grad from Billy Blue College of Design. Over the last three years, diving into a Bachelor of Visual Communications has taught me how illustrate innovative ideas and bring creative concepts to life. I promise a fresh approach, tons of enthusiasm, and top-notch design work.

During my studies, I fell in love with branding, illustration, and all things design. Design choices, for me, are more than just looks; they're thoughtful actions driven by purpose and empathy.

Always learning and growing, I'm eager to join your team. With over nine years of work experience, including five years as a duty manager at Toongabbie Hotel, I've picked up leadership, responsibility, customer service, and problem-solving skills. I reckon I can bring a unique perspective to your crew!

I also started freelancing in 2017. Since then, I've worked on diverse projects spanning film, illustration, and branding for various clients. Additionally, I've consistently crafted social media content and promotional materials for Toongabbie Hotel.

If you're wondering, Hughes your guy, I am—so Loc it in!

Thanks for your time and consideration. Can't wait to hear from you soon.

Cheers,
Loc Hughes
Visual Communicator
